Project Location: Fresno (City) Fresno (County)

Project Description (Proposed actions, location, and/or consequences).

The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) proposes a roadway rehabilitation project on State Route 99 from 0.2 mile south of the El Dorado Street Overcrossing to the Clinton Avenue Overcrossing (between post mile 21.2 and post mile 24.4) in Fresno County. The project has several major components: (1) pavement replacement, (2) median widening, (3) alterations to several undercrossing and overcrossing structures, (4) addition of auxiliary lanes, (5) the installation of retaining walls, and (5) the replacement of pumping plants.

Identify the project's significant or potentially significant effects and briefly describe any proposed mitigation measures that would reduce or avoid that effect.

The project work could potentially impact the quality of life for residents of the Downtown Community Area and other transitional residences in the area. The closure and removal of existing interchanges and ramps may lead to the reduction in access to State Route 99, which could increase commute times.

If applicable, describe any of the project's areas of controversy known to the Lead Agency, including issues raised by agencies and the public.
