Project Applicant: Port of San Diego

Project Description:

The Port of San Diego proposes the installation of a pre-manufactured steel frame bridge over the inlet channel to the F&G Street Marsh in south San Diego Bay. At the southeast reach of the inlet channel, a 100-foot long swale will be created by excavating approximately fill, soil, and sediment. The constructed swale will be planted with native salt marsh plants which will create tidal wetlands and waters of the U.S. Additionally, removal of approximately 60-cubic yards of existing concrete debris, rubble and an 18-inch diameter concrete pipe will also occur in that area.
