Wintu Tribe of Northern California		Greg	Bergin			4/18/16, 4/25/16	Received an email from Mr. Burgin on 4/10/16 saying he has knowledge of cultural resources within the area. Received a voicemail from Greg Burgin on April 18 asking about monitors at the Strawberry Fields site; AES replied leaving a VM saying that Redding Rancheria was monitoring the excavations. AES called on 4/25 to follow up, and spoke to him. Mr. Bergin stated that he's concerned about development in the area, which is culturally significant.
Wintu Tribe of Northern California		Greg	Bergin			4/28/2016	Mr. Bergin left a VM saying that he's been speaking with Bob Burns, who claims that the site we've been working at was previously recorded and asking that the work there be monitored by the Wintu Tribe, as well as informing AES that he (Mr. Burgin) had contacted the NAHC.
Native American Heritage Commission		Katie	Sanchez			4/28/2016	Received a call from the NAHC, asking about the project and spoke with Katie Sanchez, who asked about the background/details of what is going on. I gave her the background, including 2007 survey, 3/16 backhoe testing, 4/16 Phase II work. I explained that Bob Burns had visited during the backhoe work and stated that there was a known site, recorded in the 1950s, but that no information about the site had come from the NEIC record search. I confirmed for Ms. Sanchez that the property is privately owned by a Federally recognized tribe, that the archaeological program there has been completed, and that the BIA is fully aware of activities on the site; she asked for a BIA contact and I gave her Dan Hall's name. She is going to get in touch with Mr. Bergin to follow up.
Wintu Tribe of Northern California		Lori	Light	Cultural Resource Manager		3/30/2017	Received a call from Lori Light asking about monitoring, status of fieldwork at Redding, stated that it is Wintu territory, and so Wintu should be monitors. Also asked for copies of CR reports and EIS.
