Project Location (include county): 1995 Bay Front Street, San Diego, California, 92113, County of San Diego

Project Description:

The project is necessitated by a need for repair, maintenance, and replacement of the existing in-water facilities on the project site that are used to repair military and other vessels. Specifically, the project includes a Coastal Development Permit to implement two components. The first component is replacement of three wharves that have severely deteriorated. The second component includes installation of replacement piles that would occur on an as-needed basis at the two main piers within the project site, as well as three smaller piers. One of the existing piers would be demolished and not re-built.
