Project Description (Proposed actions, location, and/or consequences).

The Applicant, ORNI 5 proposes to conduct a geophysical survey (survey) and drill and test up to six geothermal exploration wells (exploratory wells) on private and State lands in the Truckhaven Geothermal Exploration Area, located south-southwest of Salton City in western Imperial County, California. Each of the proposed geothermal exploration wells would be located on separate, individual well pads that would be constructed on lands under geothermal lease to the Applicant.

Identify the project's significant or potentially significant effects and briefly describe any proposed mitigation measures that would reduce or avoid that effect.

Project's significant or potentially significant effects to

1. Biological Resources
2. Cultural Resources
3. Geology and Soils
4. Noise

Several mitigations will reduce impacts by protecting potential biological and cultural resources and increasing safety, addressing surrounding noise impacts and on-site structures built on the project sites.

If applicable, describe any of the project's areas of controversy known to the Lead Agency, including issues raised by agencies and the public.

The Project is located in the Salton Sea area which is an active fault area with two major faults in the vicinity.
